

An Advanced Leadership Workshop
for Those Serving in Significant Roles

The true measure of your leadership is whether you effect positive change.

Effective leadership is always about creating positive results. To be successful, firms must have leaders who anticipate needed change, determine what barriers stand in the way of desired change, and then develop and execute a plan to achieve positive results. This often involves moving people past the status quo, getting spirited commitment to change, and developing a firm culture that supports honest dialogue and values mistakes. Are you a catalyst for positive change in your firm?

Leading Positive Change is an advanced leadership workshop focused on helping those in key firm positions become the effective leaders they want to be and the firm really needs. We'll help you achieve better results by teaching you how to lead positive change in your firm.

Who should attend? Enrollment is limited to 50 participants currently serving (or being trained to serve) in significant firm leadership roles, including:

- Managing Partners/CEOs
- Executive Committees or Boards
- PICs
- Service Line Leaders
- Segment/Industry Group/Niche Leaders

What can you expect? Thought leaders for our profession, Sam Allred and Gordon Krater, will use a combination of presentation, real-world scenarios, case studies and peer-to-peer sharing to teach you how to create positive change in your firm.

When is the first session? The 2.5 day workshop is set for November 14-16, 2017 in Chicago, with the follow-up remote session in spring 2018.

What is the price commitment? You can attend for $3,500 per participant (with price breaks for multiple participants from the same firm).

Most change initiative failures are not process failures.
They're people failures.

Key Elements of the Leading Positive Change Workshop

During this workshop, we'll explore how to create a culture of positive change in your firm.

1 Holistic Approach to Change

Change is not achieved overnight. Effective, long-term change requires leaders who can analyze, plan and implement changes with a “leave nothing to chance” approach.

We'll show you a process that takes the guesswork out of Change Management and then provide examples of how to effectively use that process to solve real-firm issues. We'll discuss issues with teams, partners, clients, financial management and business development.

During the 2.5 day workshop, we'll leave time to share solutions, ask questions and collaborate with colleagues on multiple teams.

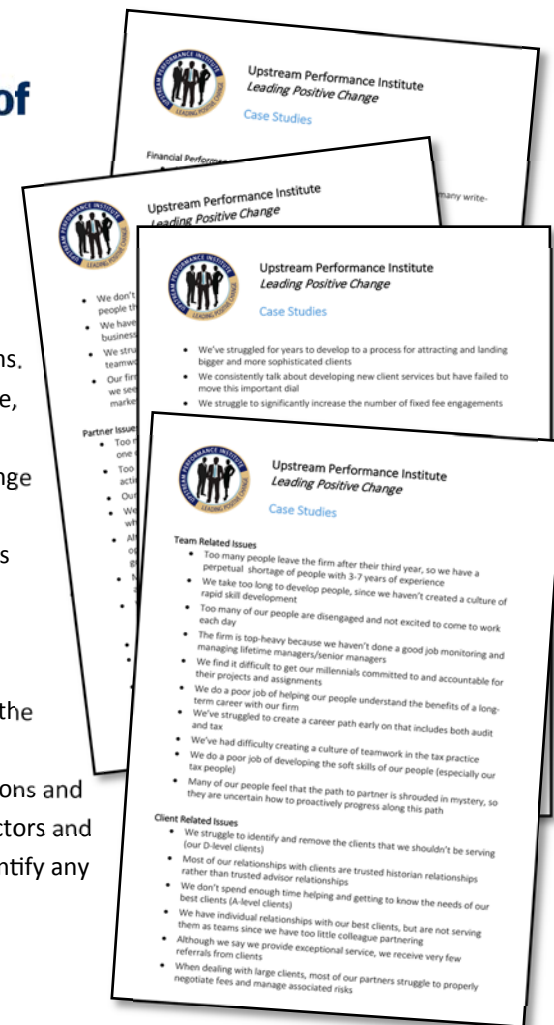

2 Case Studies of Real-Firm Issues

Your firm is unique but that doesn't mean you can't learn from the successes (and failures) of similar firms. Drawing on their extensive experience, Sam and Gordon will lead teams through scenarios designed to challenge thinking and provide a testing ground for solutions to real-world issues firms face today and tomorrow.

Team will select case studies and develop solutions to the issues using the Process of Change. They will then be responsible for reporting on solutions and will receive feedback from the instructors and the group to help clarify thinking, identify any potential issues and refine solutions.

3 Peer-to-Peer Collaboration

Networking with peers in a stimulating group environment is an important experience for all professionals, and especially for firm leaders. Participants will work with multiple teams to collaborate on solutions to firm issues and share insights from their own experiences.

4 Key Principles of Effective Change

To help make the information concise and memorable, we'll discuss 10 Key Principles for change—both what you should and what you should not do.

5 Experienced Instructors

Thought leaders for our profession, Sam Allred and Gordon Krater, have years of experience guiding firms and partners through difficult changes.

Sam Allred interacts with hundreds of firms each year via conferences, consulting engagements, retreats, and webinars. Sam has been regularly recognized as one of the major influencers in the profession and is listed as one of Accounting Today's Top 100 Most Influential People in Accounting and as one of IPA's Most Recommended Consultants.

Gordon Krater, Managing Partner of Plante Moran, has more than 30 years of real-firm experience. Gordon writes and speaks on industry topics, encouraging others in "true stewardship." He has guided his firm's client service, growth, people development, risk management, and strategic direction since he became managing partner in 2009.

6 Follow-Up

Once you've had a chance to use the Process of Change within your firm, we'll hold a follow-up webinar to discuss successes and challenges, answer questions, share solutions and ensure that you are making progress toward effective changes within your firm.
